Washington, D. C., March 5.—President Taft took possession of the executive offices at the White House at half past nine o'clock this morning. His first work was to send to the Senate in a special call the names of his cabinet which he wished to be confirmed at once. With the list of cabinet officers also went the appointment of William Loeb of New York, former secretary to President Roosevelt, for collector of the port of New York.

The cabinet appointments were as follows:

Secretary of state, P. C. Knox of Pennsylvania.
Secretary of the treasury, Franklin McVeigh of Illinois.
Secretary of war, Jacob M. Dickinson of Tennessee.
Attorney general, George Wickersham of New York.
Postmaster general, Frank W. Hitchcock of Massachusetts.
Secretary of the navy, George L. Von Meyer of Massachusetts.
Secretary of the interior, Richard A. Ballinger of Washington.
Secretary of agriculture, James Wilson of Iowa.
Secretary of commerce and labor, Charles Nagel of Missouri.

Of the new cabinet all are new men with the exception of Secretary of Agriculture Wilson.

In contrast to the weather of yesterday, when the storm raged with great fury during the inauguration of Taft, the weather to-day was perfect. The streets under the rays of the sun are rapidly clearing of the snowfall of yesterday. As the result of the storm three deaths are reported, three other persons are dying, and nearly one hundred people were hurt.

FIND JEWELS IN REFUSE.

Queer Place for Them—A New York Greek Arrested.

Omaha, Neb., March 5.—The police yesterday afternoon arrested a Greek named John Savis, who came here from New York and in whose possession they found a pearl necklace valued at about $50,000, which was lost near the Knickerbocker Hotel, at 424 street and Broadway in that city, Nov. 26.

Savis says he was employed as a street cleaner and swept up the jewels with a bunch of refuse.

New York police said the jewels were probably those lost by Mrs. Otto C. Heinze in or near the Knickerbocker Hotel on the night of Nov. 26 last. The same opinion prevailed at the hotel when the news of the arrest reached there.

The Heinze necklace consisted of 63 matched pearls, with a gold, diamond-studded clasp. The value of it has been variously put at from $50,000 to $50,000.

ANXIOUS TO GET HOME.

Roosevelt Wouldn't Stop in New York on Way to Oyster Bay.

New York, March 5.—Theodore Roosevelt, ex-president of the United States, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, arrived in Jersey City at 11:30 last night. The train was three hours and forty minutes late. The trip from Philadelphia was uneventful.

Despite the lateness of the hour quite a crowd was waiting in the depot to greet Mr. Roosevelt. Douglas Robinson, Roosevelt's brother-in-law, tried to persuade the ex-president and his wife to remain over at his home in New York for the night, but this Mr. Roosevelt declined to do as he knew many of his fellow citizens in Oyster Bay had remained up to greet him.

After leaving West Philadelphia the passengers aboard the train circulated a complimentary resolution lauding their distinguished fellow traveler. This was sent to Mr. Roosevelt and in response he came into the car and shook hands with all saying he thoroughly appreciated their kindly thoughts and good wishes. He declared:

"I am perfectly delighted to see you and thank you. I have to be adamant about giving an interview and therefore cannot say anything."

As he started back to rejoin Mrs. Roosevelt every one in the car responded heartily and justly to a call for three cheers for the ex-president. Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt's son, Kermit, met them at the Jersey City ferry and accompanied them to Oyster Bay.

On the ferry trip across the Hudson the passengers on the ferry boat crowded around the ex-president's automobile and a number of newspapers tried to interview him. Mr. Roosevelt, however, declined to talk.

The trip across Manhattan island was made at a fast gait, the ex-president's automobile leading and half a dozen taxicabs containing friends and reporters followed. The Long Island City ferry house was reached a few minutes after midnight and five minutes later the boat started for Long Island City where a special train was awaiting Mr. Roosevelt.

DESPONDENT MAN SUICIDES.

Frank C. Hollins of New York Breathed Illuminating Gas.

New York, March 5.—Despondent owing to ill health and the collapse of a number of his financial and industrial undertakings, Frank C. Hollins, a brother of H. B. Hollins, the well-known banker, committed suicide yesterday by inhaling illuminating gas. Mr. Hollins was 60 years old and until recently had been a patient in a sanatorium for nervous and mental ailments.

The suicide at one time held an important position with his brother's firm, H. B. Hollins & Co., but in 1886, following some disagreement with the head of the firm, he left it to engage in company promoting, particularly of straw pulp manufacturing schemes.

Among the companies in which he was at one time or another interested and in connection with which he was involved in litigation amounting to more than $1,000,000 were the Union Railway Power & Electric Co., the Federal Manufacturing and Specialty company, Electric Pulp and Paper company, Blancheite company, Consolidated Paper and Mill company, and the Consolidated Railway Industrial Straw Paper company.

'GOES INTO BOXING.

Fritz Hanson, Well-known Wrestler, Looking For Mills.

Boston, March 5.—Fritz Hanson, the Worcester welterweight wrestler, who has announced that he will take a whirl at the boxing game, is a victim of his own ability. Clashed among the best 145-150-pounders in the world and holding international championships, Hanson finds it difficult to secure matches with men of his class. As a result he has been forced to wrestle middle and heavyweights. He lost but one decision at weight in four years, and this was to young Prokas, whom he had previously beaten twice. Hanson is popular with wrestling fans, especially through out New England, and his shift to the glove game will be watched with interest.

DOCTOR HELD
IN $10,000 BAIL*After He Pleaded Not Guilty
in Lynn Court*ETHEL ROGERS DIED TODAY

When the Police Had Arrested Dr. E. P. Wing, They Detected a Suspicious Action in Handling a Revolver.

Lynn, Mass., March 5.—Dr. E. P. Wing who is charged with a criminal operation on Ethel Rogers who died at four o'clock this morning at the Salem hospital was arraigned before Judge Lummis in police court today. He pleaded not guilty and waived the reading of the complaint. Hearing was set for March 20. Bail was fixed at $10,000. Dr. Wing was arrested last night after an all-day search.

When the officers visited the doctor's office he tried to place a loaded revolver in a convenient drawer, but Capt. Proctor was watching him, and after he had detected the effort to get away with the revolver, strict watch was kept on the prisoner. When searched at the station two surgical instruments and several bottles of drugs were found in his pockets together with several letters.

Dr. Wing made no talk about his arrest, and he appeared much surprised when he was ordered last night to be held without bail. Two friends volunteered to furnish bonds at almost any amount, but at the request of the state officers the prisoner was not admitted to bail.

Miss Rogers, according to the state police, who yesterday secured a warrant for Dr. Wing's arrest after investigating of a complaint which reached Dist. Atty. Peters' office, came to Salem from her home at Milltown some weeks ago. The alleged operation was performed two weeks ago.

About a week ago she was removed from her father's home in Salem to the Salem hospital and physicians who attended her reported the matter to the district attorney. The state police say that she declared to them that Dr. Wing performed the operation in this city two weeks ago.

HOLES IN THE SKULL.

Skeleton of a Man Found at Seekonk, Mass.

Seekonk, Mass., March 5.—Two bullet holes in the skull were revealed yesterday, when Medical Examiner Holden of Attleboro held an autopsy over the fully clothed skeleton of an unknown man, which was discovered here Wednesday. There were no marks on the clothing to identify the man. The skeleton was discovered in a patch of woods near Lincoln street, and about half a mile north of the Taunton turnpike.

The skeleton was fully clothed and apparently had been in the woods all winter, although decomposition had not entirely ceased. Before the medical examiner discovered the bullet holes in the skull, and found one bullet inside his head. It was believed that the skeleton was that of some tramp who had probably crawled into the woods and died there. No one is known to be missing in the vicinity.

FEARED THE "BLACK HAND."

So He Murdered The Man Who Had Threatened Him.

Rutland, March 5.—Some facts came to light yesterday which put an entirely different aspect on the killing of Andrew Stulvatsky by Joseph Nehalick at West Pawlet Tuesday, and the subsequent suicide of Nehalick after his arrest at Fort Edward, N. Y. It turns out that the murdered man was a member of a secret society with "black hand" tendencies, which is accused of having committed several murders in Pawlet, Granville, N. Y., and vicinity.

Attorney Joseph McCormack of Granville, who was in this city yesterday said that Nehalick, who he declared was the most intelligent Hungarian that ever lived in Pawlet, called at his office last Monday and said that Stulvatsky had threatened his life several times because he refused to join the society. He told the attorney that on Sunday night Stulvatsky and two other Hungarians tried to break into his house and murder him. He said they broke a window and might have gained entrance had not the noise of the falling glass awakened him. He said he had reported the matter to the grand juror and a constable in Pawlet but that they refused to take any action, saying that "those fellows were bad men and that they did not care to have anything to do with them."

Stulvatsky did not board with Nehalick as was previously reported, but lived on the New York side of the line. He had been in the neighborhood only four months.

Mr. McCormack says that it is the general belief in Pawlet and Granville that the band of out-throats of which Stulvatsky was a member, is responsible for the disappearance of several Hungarians who have turned up missing and never been heard of again. He told of one case in which a Hungarian quarry foreman disappeared leaving all his best clothes behind him and $47 pay in the company's office. He says it is commonly believed that this man was murdered and his body buried in some out-of-the-way spot.

NOT IN ACCORD,
HE RESIGNS*District Attorney Kealing Will Not Prosecute*SMITH AND WILLIAMS

He Sent His Resignation To-day to the Attorney General at Washington—The Cases Are the Panama Canal Scandals.

Washington, D. C., March 5.—J. F. Kealing, United States district attorney of Indianapolis, has resigned rather than prosecute Delavan Smith and C. H. Williams of Indianapolis, connected with the Indianapolis News as owner and editor, on the orders of the administration. In a letter to the attorney general which was made public today he states:

"I am not in accord with the government in its efforts to drag the defendants from their homes to the seat of government while there is good and sufficient law in this jurisdiction in the state court."

The prosecution is the result of indictments brought against the two men on the charge of libel in connection with an alleged Panama canal scandal.

After wandering about the streets of Montpelier in a vain search for work, John McCarthy was pleased to be arrested last night for vagrancy by Deputy Sheriff Henry C. Lawson, and he was more pleased when Judge Harvey of the Montpelier city court sentenced him today to sixty days in the county jail on the charge of vagrancy. He will begin his sentence at once and the end of the sentence will bring him into freedom about the time the buds are springing forth into new life and all the world is genial with the joy of spring. By that time McCarthy may be able to secure employment. If not, he will continue his vagrancy habits, perhaps.

McCarthy is an elderly man and he speaks with a distinct brogue. When Judge Harvey pronounced sentence this morning, the respondent made a pronounced salaam and piped forth:

"Thank ye, yer honor, sir; thank ye. I kin stand on me head that length of time and afterwards I kin sit on me thumb, then ease meself in a chair for a while. Thank ye, sir; thank ye."

Judge Harvey acknowledge the appreciation of his act and the deputy led away the joyful man to a cell in Sheriff Tracy's custody.

SEIZED MUCH LIQUOR.

Grand Juror Bailey of Montpelier decided to try out a feature of the liquor law which had been tried out in Barre without success to the state, so he authorized a wholesale raid on the freight station of the Montpelier & Wells River railroad in Montpelier yesterday afternoon. Sheriff Tracy and Chief Durkee who made the raid seized four barrels and three half-barrels of ale in bulk and three barrels of bottled ale. The stuff was from the Reuter Brewing company of Boston and was consigned to various Italian names, in a similar action brought here in Barre city court a short time ago the liquor was ordered returned to the men who claimed it, and Grand Juror Bailey of Montpelier proposed to find out if he can confiscate such consignments under the law prohibiting the keeping of intoxicating liquor with intent to sell.

PYTHIANS CELEBRATES 45th ANNIVERSARY

With Banquet, Followed by Exercises of a Pleading Nature, Including an Address by G. Herbert Page.

A banquet and exercises celebrating the 45th anniversary of the founding of the Knights of Pythias order was held at the rooms of Vincetta lodge, No. 10, last evening. Shortly after seven o'clock the Pythians and their ladies to the number of 150 led by Chancellor Commander and Mrs. C. D. Swasey, took their places at the banquet tables. Members of the committee, arrayed in white coats, then served the following menu:

Celery	Food olives
Peanuts
Saltines
Potato salad, cream dressing
Chicken pie, home style
Mashed potatoes	Green peas
Hot rolls	Salmon salad
Ice cream	Assorted cakes

Music was furnished during the banquet by Harris' orchestra of four pieces. After the company had done full justice to the good things enumerated on the bill of fare they adjourned to the hall, where an interesting program was given. C. D. Swasey acted as chairman, and after a brief address of welcome introduced H. D. Hopkins of Montpelier, who gave Dr. Drummond's French-Canadian dialect poem, "Johnny's First Moose," in a manner which won much applause. As an encore Mr. Hopkins recited "Otto and His Automobile." Mr. Hopkins then gave Eugene Field's "Grandma's Prayer," and followed this with more selections from Dr. Drummond's works.

The chairman called upon the speaker of the evening, G. Herbert Page, who delivered a forcible address upon Pythianism. Mr. Page gave a review of the order from its foundation in the midst of the Civil War up to the present time, when its members number nearly 800,000. Mr. Page gave the story of Damon and Pythias, upon whose great friendship was based the inception and foundation of the order. He also reviewed the cardinal principles of the order, friendship, charity and benevolence, quoting from poems which aptly illustrated the beautiful plan upon which the work of the order is carried out.

Next on the program was a cornet solo by John Sims, and this was followed by a song, "Over the Jersey Shore," from the "Follies of 1908," by Mr. Hopkins. A selection was then given by the orchestra and the program ended with the reciting of three of Dr. Drummond's child poems by Mr. Hopkins.

The banquet hall was prettily decorated for the occasion. At the end of the hall was draped a United States flag and streamers of crepe paper in blue, yellow and red, the colors of the order, were suspended from the center to the sides of the room. The tables were lighted by candles with fancy shades and were decorated with carnations. The social committee, which had charge of the celebration, was composed of J. N. Gall, William Robertson, David Bird, David Gilbertson, William Duthie and Charles C. Kenyon.

After about an hour the power of the Consolidated company was switched on and the cars were running again.

The transformer was an old one and was to be replaced. The new one is already here and an expert from the General Electric company is here, so that the new equipment will be installed at once. Meanwhile the cars will be carried on the Consolidated company's power, it is expected.
